OLD MAN WINTER CREATED PROBLEMS FOR PEE DEE MOTORIST SATURDAY NIGHT Here a Motorist Scrapes An Accumulation of Sleet From on His Auto

MINOR WRECKS REPORTED

Sleet and Icy Roads Make Driving in Area Hazardous

Travel by motor vehicle on foot became a slippery endeavor across northeastern South Carolina Saturday night as sleet freezing rain and occasional snowflakes sprinkled the area.

Law enforcement officers issued warnings to motorists advising them not to travel unless necessary.

The U. S. Weather Bureau forecast called for sleet and snow to continue across the Pee Dee through Sunday morning. Accumulations of up to three inches of snow and sleet was forecast in the Florence area.

The weather bureau forecast a cold Sunday for the Pee Dee with temperatures peaking in the low 40s. Partial clearing is forecast for Sunday night.

The Florence headquarters of the State Highway Patrol reported Saturday night some 15 minor accidents had occurred in the eight-county district Saturday. Only a few minor injuries were reported.

Florence city police said that three or four minor accidents occurred Saturday night in Florence. One injury resulted from a four-car accident on West Palmello Street. The identity of the victim was not immediately available.

Florence County sheriff's officials said county roads were hazardous but only a few minor accidents had occurred. The sheriff's office issued a warning to motorists that the condition was expected to get worse overnight and cautioned against unnecessary travel Sunday.

State Highway Department officials also warned motorists against traveling unless emergency situations arise.

Across the extreme northwestern section of South Carolina Saturday night the U. S. Weather Bureau forecast heavy snow with sleet and freezing rain in other sections.

Hazardous driving conditions were forecast for Saturday night and Sunday.

Officials reported that accumulations of up to four inches of snow and ice were expected Saturday night over the upper Piedmont and mountains.

A low developing off the Georgia coast caused cold air to be entrenched over the northwest portion of the state.

Precipitation over northwestern South Carolina was expected to remain in frozen form during the night, weather officials said.

At 7 p.m. Saturday Anderson reported an accumulation of three inches of snow while Greenville reported one inch.

Allies Ignore Enemy's Tet Cease-Fire

SAIGON (AP) — Enemy gunners shot down three U. S. helicopters Saturday, destroying two and heavily damaging the third in action that contributed to a war-as-usual situation on the first day of the enemy-declared cease-fire.

The enemy's version of a Tet cease-fire — which erupted into a bloody offensive last year — began at 7 a.m. Saturday. But the allies ignored it and their reports Sunday showed scattered actions at about the same rate as in recent weeks.

The Viet Cong said their cease-fire would run seven days. The Saigon government announced Saturday it would observe its own stand-down for Tet, which fell Monday, but only for 24 hours beginning at 6 p.m. Sunday. The allies have said they will halt offensive activity during that 24 hours.

Awaiting their own cease-fire, allied forces pressed 60 large offensive sweeps looking for the enemy and raining more air blows along Saigon's approaches.

The helicopter losses came 56 miles northwest of Saigon, where U. S. 1st Air Cavalry troops were continuing their campaign to spoil enemy buildups.

A low-flying reconnaissance helicopter was hit by ground fire and crash-landed. Following the cavalry plan for such operations, standby ground troops were lifted quickly into the area. As they were being picked up to leave, two other choppers came under heavy fire and were destroyed.

Spokesmen said the first helicopter "received major damage." The losses raised to 1,013 the number of American helicopters reported shot down in South Vietnam.

Spokesmen said five Americans were killed in the action and 18 wounded but had no breakdown of losses among troops and helicopter crewmen. Enemy casualties were not reported.

Vietnamese headquarters reported its forces killed 49 enemy and captured 45 Saturday in the Mekong Delta 113 miles southwest of Saigon. Spokesmen said government losses were one killed, two wounded.

There was another incident late Saturday in the Demilitarized Zone dividing Vietnam. U. S. Command spokesmen said an air observer flying the southern half of the strip spotted several rocket firing sites northwest of Gio Linh, called in artillery and the big guns of the battleship New Jersey and reported 25 secondary explosions and seven 500-foot fireballs.

The incident was the 60th listed as significant by the U. S. Command in the DMZ since the Nov. 1 halt in bombing of North Vietnam.

Plane Crash In Bahamas Kills Six

FREEPORT, Bahamas (AP) — Six men were killed today when a private plane crashed and exploded in bush country shortly after takeoff from Freeport.

Bahamian authorities identified the pilot as John Belloise of North Miami.

Passengers aboard the aircraft were identified as Sol Feldman and Myron R. Boraks, both of North Miami; Gus Rubin, Pompano Beach, Fla.; Clifford Cochrane, New York City; and Dr. Frank Colombo, Paris, Utah.

The plane, a twin-engine Aero Commander, crashed a half mile from the end of the runway. It plowed through the tops of pine trees, exploded on impact with the ground and burst into flames. A bulldozer cleared a pathway for firemen and rescuers, but there were no survivors.

Anti-Ayub Violence Continues

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — Demonstrations against Mohammed Ayub Khan and scattered violence continued in Pakistan's chief city Saturday, rousing speculation as to how long the embattled president can hold on.

The new outbreaks, including a reported attempt on the life of Ayub's chief political foe, came a day after a violent nationwide general strike protesting government policies. Five persons were reported killed Friday in riots and gun battles in Lahore, Karachi and Hyderabad.

In Larkana, home of former Foreign Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto 300 miles north of Karachi, supporters of the opposition leader seized a man as he whipped out a pistol and took aim at Bhutto, a spokesman for the former minister said.

Mustafa Khar, a member of the National Assembly and close friend of Bhutto, said the incident took place as Bhutto was leading a procession in his honor.

Khar added that supporters tried to lynch the gunman, but Bhutto ordered him turned over to police.

Bhutto, 41, spoke to newsmen after Ayub freed him from three months of detention.

Big Jetliner Test Flown 2nd Time

The Boeing 747 jetliner took to the air for the second time Saturday and test pilot Jack Waddell found some new but apparently minor bugs during the 355-ton plane's two hour and 20-minute flight.

About 40 minutes after a flawless liftoff at 1:17 p.m. (PST), Waddell reported by radio that he was having difficulty synchronizing a down rudder, although it apparently did not impair the plane's handling abilities.

Waddell also reported that his cabin pressure was "not normal" after reaching an altitude of 15,200 feet, the greatest height yet for the 231-foot jumbo jet. That problem got further attention after Waddell lowered the plane to 5,500 feet.

Waddell and two co-pilots pushed the 747 to speeds of up to 280 miles an hour, crisscrossing over Hood Canal, about 30 miles southwest of here.

The plane's landing gear was retracted for the first time on Saturday's flight, and Waddell made a low pass over Everett's Paine Field for observation by engineers on the ground.

Soviets Warn Germans Not to Hold Elections

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union disclosed Saturday its warning to West Germany on the consequences of going ahead with presidential elections in West Berlin.

The consequences may be "the most undesirable" for the situation of that area," the official news agency Tass reported.

Tass released the text of a statement, delivered Thursday to West German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger, which said the election could adversely affect the "interests of the population of West Berlin." It

Nixon Safety Assured By Mayor of Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — Mayor Klaus Schuetz declared Saturday the dignity and security of President Nixon is guaranteed for his Feb. 27 visit to West Berlin.

The mayor gave this assurance in an interview with the newspaper Morgenpost on a day marked by further street demonstrations by the city's rampant New Left.

The leftist student leadership at the Technical University of Berlin called on students and young workers Friday to demonstrate against the U.S. chief executive when he shows up here on his European tour.

A U.S. presidential jet, a Boeing 707, practiced landings at the mid-city Tempelhof airfield despite snowy weather. Witnesses said it touched down and rolled in three times.

Tempelhof is ringed by high apartments and the runway of about 5,000 feet is shorter than those at the outlying Tegel airfield. But if Nixon could land safely at Tempelhof it would save time on his tight schedule.

More than 2,000 leftist marched in the snow, clashed sporadically with police and chanted slogans at the Spanish consulate against Gen. Francisco Franco's regime.

Hundreds of police had prevented them from reaching the U.S. Amerika Haus cultural center and the Greek military mission, the targets of past outbursts.

Lima Police Guard U.S. Facilities

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Peru ordered its Washington ambassador home for consultation and Lima police reinforced guards at American facilities Saturday amid rising anti-American feeling accentuated by attacks Friday on U.S. tuna boats.

A report from California indicated the U.S. craft were back again Saturday in Pacific fishing grounds off Peru near where at least two of them were fired on Friday by a Peruvian naval gunboat.

August Felando, general manager of the American Tuna Boat Association, said in San Diego that: "As far as we know, the boats are back... where they were when attacked." He said two boat captains told him by radio their craft received extensive bullet damage and that although no Americans were injured one skipper had some near misses.

There was no word from Peruvian authorities on where the U.S. boats were Saturday.

One of the tuna boats was taken to a Peruvian port Friday and released after paying a fine unofficially reported at $2,000.

Guards on U.S. property in Lima were reinforced after two bombing incidents Friday night. A makeshift noise bomb was tossed into the yard of the Peruvian-American Cultural Institute and two molotov cocktails hit the iron gate of a General Motors Assembly plant outside Lima. There was little damage in either incident.

In addition, leftist students held a small anti-yankee demonstration Friday night. Police arrested about 100 and dispersed the crowd with tear gas.

Besides summoning Ambassador Fernando Berckmeyer, Peru's military government also called home Luis Alvarado, its ambassador to the Organization of American States. They were expected to arrive early in the week.

Berckmeyer was called to Washington Friday to hear a U.S. State Department in protest that the gunboat was "wholly unjustified" in attacking and detaining the fishing boats.

The Peruvian envoy maintained the U.S. boats were fishing illegally in territorial waters that Peru claims 200 miles offshore. The United States recognizes only 12-mile limits.

The prospect of U.S. economic sanctions, stemming from Peru's seizure of American-owned International Petroleum Co. properties four months before the fishing boat incident, was believed to be one reason for Alvarado's ordered return.

Peru, claiming International Petroleum owes it $690 million, has said it might take the oil case to the OAS if the United States cuts off aid and sugar purchases because of the $600 million expropriation.

Tornado-Spitting Storm Rakes Florida Peninsula

Rocket Shift Set For Mariner 6

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The space agency decided Saturday to shift the Mariner 6 Mars probe from its damaged Atlas-Centaur rocket to another booster and said it hoped to maintain the Feb. 24 launch schedule.

The original rocket's Atlas first stage suffered a slight buckling of the thin outer skin Friday when a pressurization system failed during a launch pad test.

General Dynamics Convair Division, builder of the Atlas-Centaur, dispatched a team of experts from its San Diego, Cal., plant. After several hours examination, they decided the Atlas could not fly and to return it to San Diego for repair.

A spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Mariner 6 will be moved to an adjoining launch pad where another Atlas-Centaur is being checked out.

That rocket had been slated to launch an identical Mariner 7 on a similar Mars journey March 24. Mariner 6 is farther along in checkout, so it was decided to swap payloads.

Meanwhile, another Atlas-Centaur will be shipped to Cape Kennedy to launch Mariner 7. It is a rocket that had been ticketed to boost an applications Technology satellite into earth orbit in July sure system roared off the Gulf of Mexico with little warning, raced across the state at speeds up to 50 miles per hour, and left few areas in central Florida untouched by violence.

Winds gusted up to 90 miles an hour at St. Petersburg and from 75 to 80 in many other communities, the Weather Bureau said. Tornado funnels were reported at Tampa, St. Petersburg, Bartow, Lakeland, Lake Alfred, Melbourne, and Lake Placid.

Winds in excess of 74 m.p.h. are considered to be of hurricane force.

Part of a wall of a two-story building under construction in Tampa collapsed on top of a truck. Hail and an inch of rain fell on Tampa in 30 minutes. In many cities, there were reports of uprooted trees, damaged homes and house trailers.

Police radio in Winter Haven and radio Station WIPC in Lake Wales were silenced when antennas toppled in the wind.

Just behind the front, angry lides struck along the Gulf Coast, leaving streets and vacation cottages awash.

John R. Harrison, president of the Lakeland Ledger, said a wave four feet tall smashed ashore at Longboat Key, a resort island where he and Mrs. Harrison were spending the weekend.

"The tide moved cars as much as 100 feet, rushed into cottages and left two feet of water standing in the area," Harrison said.

One injury and no deaths were reported. Brevard County officials said a chunk of wind-purged plywood broke the leg of 7-year-old Saul Guerra of Palm Bay.

At Lido Key, residents estimated the height of the flood tide at four and one-half feet.

John Barnes, general manager of the Sheraton Sand Castle Hotel, said there was six inches of Gulf water in his lobby.

On Sesta Key, William H. Snow said, "The water came up three feet in a minute and a half. My living room floor is five feet above the mean high tide and I've got water in my living room."

A tornado hit the Pine-wood Inn at Port Malabar, tore off chunk of the roof and knocked out most of the windows. A barmaid said one customer dived under a pool table and one took cover behind a piano. The twister tossed lawn furniture and garbage cans around in the area.

Another tornado near Titusville broke tree limbs, flipped over a house trailer, and overturned a boat in the Indian River. Four persons in the trailer escaped unharmed.

These items are part of Garrison's evidence that Kennedy died in a conspiratorial cross-fire and not at the hands of Lee Harvey Oswald alone as the Warren Commission said. Shaw, 35, is being tried on a charge that he conspired in 1963 with Oswald and David W. Ferrie, both now dead, to kill Kennedy.

Prosecution evidence in the trial's fourth week included a home movie of the slaying which the jury has seen seven times in two days—and testimony about Kennedy falling backward when shot, about two men with a gun and an Oswald accomplice in fleeing the scene.

The trial adjourned before noon Saturday when the state ran out of witnesses. Former Texas Gov. John B. Connally and his wife are scheduled to testify Monday. Connally was wounded by the gunfire that killed Kennedy on Nov. 22, 1963, in Dallas' Dealey Plaza.

A tall Texan was the first of three state witnesses called Saturday in the effort to show that Oswald, who purportedly fired from a sixth floor window, was not the lone assassin.

J. L. Simmons of Mesquite, Tex., a postal worker, testified he saw what looked like a puff of smoke on Dealey Plaza's grassy knoll when Kennedy was shot.

"After I heard the shots, I looked to see if I could see where they were coming from," Simmons said. "Right up under the trees, I detected what appeared to be smoke, or just a puff of smoke."

Simmons said he was standing over Elm Street triple underpass when he saw the presidential motorcade. When he heard the shots and saw the smoke, he said he walked along a fence to the suspicious spot.

He found a lot of muddy footprints, he said. On cross-examination, Simmons said these could have been left by spectators. He was not looking at the spot before the shooting, he said.

The knoll is on the same side of the street but a short distance west of the Texas School Book Depository, from which the Warren Commission said, Oswald fired the fatal shots.

Another witness, Mrs. W. E. Newman of Dallas, a pretty brunette housewife, said she was standing with her husband and children below the knoll and saw the fatal shot from a distance of about one traffic lane.

Q. And what did you do?

A. We each had a child and we fell to the ground on top of them because we thought we were in a crossfire—(She was stopped by a defense objection to what she "thought.")

Q. And where did the noise you heard sound to you like it was coming from?

A. It sounded like it was coming from directly behind us.

Chief defense attorney F. Irvin Dymond on cross-examination brought out two apparent conflicts between Mrs. Newman's testimony and that of several other witnesses concerning Kennedy's reaction to the head shot.

Others told of a bloody spray flying backward or to the left. Mrs. Newman said: "As best I can remember, it flew straight up."

'Murf the Surf' Murder Trial Set to Open Monday

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Terry Frank was a busy young black-haired beauty with a hangup for hoodlums. One of them, ex-convict Jack "Murf the Surf" Murphy, goes on trial for his life here Monday charged with brutally murdering Terry over profits from a $488,732 stock theft.

Charged with Murphy is his buddy, Jack Griffith, a former karate teacher.

Murphy has pleaded innocent by reason of insanity with psychiatric opinion divided. Griffith pleaded innocent. Trial may take four to six weeks.

Both men also are charged with murdering Annelie Mohn, 21, friend and former roommate of the 23-year-old Terry.

The killings have been called Whiskey Creek murders for the stream where the bodies were found.

Murphy, 31, a child prodigy violinist and tennis virtuoso, is best known as engineer of 1964's $40,000 jewel theft from New York City's Museum of Natural History in which the 563-carat eggsize Star of India sapphire and the 100-carat DeLong Ruby were stolen. He served some two years of a three-year sentence for that crime and, in Miami, did a 30-day stretch for vagrancy.

Murphy is a University of Pittsburgh dropout who says he'll preach nationwide on the fallacy of crime if he is freed.

He's been in and out of police stations on charges of armed robbery and burglary and it was after an arrest for burglary in Los Angeles during September 1967, that Terry first telephoned Murf and offered help, he said later.

Terry had done that before. Once, in Newport, Ky., at age 17, she became infatuated with casino operator Tito Carinci and sat through his trial on charges of evading $167,000 taxes. Terry's brother, Steven Kent of Cincinnati, said Terry pried two diamonds worth $2,000 from her mother's brooch and gave them to Carinci to help with legal fees.

The bodies of Terry and Annelie were found Dec. 7, 1967—just three months after Terry introduced herself to Murphy. The girls had been beaten, slashed with knives and their heads chopped open. Annelie also was shot.

They were found bobbing in the black waters of Whiskey Creek at Hollywood, Fla., a backwater once used as a hide-out for rum-runners. The girls' necks were lathered by electric wire to 35-pound concrete building blocks on the bottom of the tidal creek.

Both girls wore black bathing suits and jewelry. Several days passed before they were identified by their families—Terry's from Cincinnati, Annelie's from Natick, Mass.

Backtracking FBI agents found that the girls had left their last jobs at the Los Angeles brokerage house of Rutter, Jackson & Gray with $488,732 worth of negotiable securities.

Some had been sold in New York, about $28,000 worth. Six men were charged in connection with that sale.

But in Florida the charge was murder. Through contacts made by the girls, telephone calls and witnesses who said beachboy Murphy and Griffith were with the girls in a boat on the murder day, the police went to the grand jury. The indictment charged Griffith and Murphy with first degree murder of each girl.

Another witness, termed important by the prosecution, was blonde beautician Connie Hoppen, 24. A federal warrant charged Miss Hoppen took unlawful flight to avoid testifying. She was arrested at Burbank, Calif., just last week after a noisy argument with a man.

Nixon Gives New Names To Cruisers

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has renamed the two presidential cabin cruisers for his daughters Tricia and Julie and plans to make vacation use of the two pleasure boats.

The 92-foot "Honey Fitz," larger of the two cruisers, is being named "Patricia" for Nixon's 22-year-old daughter who lives in the White House.

A favorite with former President John F. Kennedy, who named the boat after his grandfather, it can accommodate about 40 passengers and has a dining room for 11 persons, a lounge, stateroom for two and sun deck.

The 64-foot former "Patrick J.," named for Kennedy's paternal grandfather, will now be known as "Julie" for the President's married 20-year-old daughter. It can sleep six and has three small staterooms, a main lounge, dining area and afterdeck.

Both boats have been popular with chief executives and first were obtained by the Navy at the end of World War II for use by President Truman and his family.

At first they served as escort craft for the 243-foot, ocean-going "Williamsburg," the official presidential yacht used by Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt and Truman. It was decommissioned in 1953 after President Dwight D. Eisenhower took office because he felt "a yacht is a symbol of needless luxury."

Both cabin cruisers are being refurbished and overhauled at the Washington Navy Yard but there is no redecorating underway, the White House said.

Nixon plans to make use of the "Julie" in Florida. Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the boat will be transported there as soon as the inland waterway is clear of ice.

Public Employe Strikes Blamed on Law Tangle

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — Labor leaders described the rise in public employe strikes as chaos Saturday and pinned blame on what they called a crazy-quilt of laws that deny 10 million state, city and county workers a voice in job conditions.

"This chaos has to come to a halt some day," said President Jerry Wurf of the AFL-CIO State, County and Municipal Workers Union.

Wurf and other union leaders reported the basic problem is that all states but Vermont deny public employes the right to strike on the grounds of "the public interest" and "state sovereignty."

Many states do not permit bargaining by their employes, the report said.

The union leaders urged a congressional study of the situation, and of what termed special problems of nearly three million federal government employes who they said work under "benevolent despotism."

"Our society can remain viable only if the rights of the public employes who are, after all, citizens too, are not trampled on in the guise of the public good," said the report sponsored by the AFL-CIO Maritime Trades Department.

The report said the increasing number of strikes by teachers, garbage men, hospital workers, police, firemen and other public employes is due to absence of workable labor laws at state and city level.

"The question of the 'public interest' is the one raised most frequently when collective bargaining fails—or fails to take place—and when the normal everyday services suddenly are withdrawn," it said.

"It is a powerful weapon which is turned on the public employe, even though the employe is himself part of that: (tax-paying, service - using public)," the report said.

"This is not to deny that there is a public interest," the report continued. "The problem arises out of the fact that the 'public interest' phrase, waved like a banner when there is a confrontation between public employes and public administrators, is used to prejudice the community against the cause or programs of the public employe."

Boy Held By Father Calls Out For Bread

BORDEAUX, France (AP) — From a barricaded farm house where his father has been detaining him for 15 days, 11-year-old Francis Fourquet Saturday called out to reporters: "Send me some bread please. I'm hungry."

Police officials who watched the farm house from a distance said they believed the boy was told by his father to appeal for food. Police had just left three bottles of milk, cookies and other food in a lane near the farm. The boy had left the house to pick them up while his father, Andre Fourquet, 38, watched with a rifle in his hands.

The father barricaded himself with his three children to protest a judge's decision to leave them in custody of Fourquet's estranged wife. An older daughter escaped several days ago. Francis and Aline, 13, remained. Charges are being prepared against Fourquet in the name of a gendarme with a rifle during the siege.

Fourquet was supposed to make up his mind Saturday on whether to surrender. Instead, he snarled to the crowd around his farm that he would not let the children free as long as his wife does not come to see him. She was reported to be refusing to come near the farm house for fear he would kill her.

Police and lawyers told Fourquet his boy and girl would be placed in a private institution, but this decision did not appease him.

When a police officer entered the lane toward the farm early in the morning, he saw Fourquet pointing his rifle at him. Fourquet shouted: "I did not let you come."
